JIANG NAN 江南	Personal Hygiene and Uniform Policy	Document No.:	IKQAP#012
		Revision No.	2
	Imperial Kitchen Group Inc.,	Effective Date:	July 13, 2026

1. Purpose

This policy is established by Imperial Kitchen Group Inc. to have a consistent framework for professional appearance and cleanliness that aligns with the organization's core values and operational needs. By adhering to these standards, we aim to foster a professional brand image that inspires public confidence while promoting a sense of equality and unity among all employees. Furthermore, this policy serves as a critical measure to ensure the health and safety of both employees and clients, particularly in specialized environments such as food service, clinical settings, or manufacturing, where strict hygiene is essential to prevent contamination and maintain regulatory compliance.

2. Scope

This policy applies to all employees, including full-time, and contractual employees, regardless of their position. It is applicable at all times while the employee is on company premises, representing the company at off-site events, or performing official duties.

3. Responsibilities

3.1. All Employees

Shall maintain high standards of personal hygiene by bathing daily, using deodorant, keeping nails clean, avoiding strong scents, and ensuring hair and facial hair are neatly trimmed. They are required to wear the designated company uniform without unauthorized alterations, keeping it clean, wrinkle-free, and paired with compliant closed-toe safety footwear. Additionally, employees must complete the Employee Acknowledgement Form, submit formal accommodation requests if they have specific legal, religious, or medical constraints, and return all company gear using the exit clearing form during offboarding.

3.2. Restaurant and Shift Managers

Shall be responsible for conducting pre-shift checks using the Daily Shift Inspection Checklist to ensure all employees meet grooming and attire standards before starting work. They must enforce the progressive discipline policy by addressing the first offense privately with a verbal warning—sending the employee home without pay if the issue cannot be fixed immediately. For continued compliance issues, managers must issue written warnings with an improvement timeline, escalate to a final warning or suspension, or proceed to termination for a fourth offense, documenting every step using a Corrective Action Report.

3.3. Human Resources (HR)

Shall be responsible for distribution of uniform and other company assets to new employees during onboarding. The HR also maintains accountability by filing formal written warnings and Corrective Action Reports directly into employee files. HR also handles administrative oversight for the policy by processing legal, religious, or health-related accommodation requests and tracking the final return of company gear through the clearing form when an employee leaves the company.

3.4. Quality Assurance (QA)

Shall be responsible for establishing, reviewing, and updating this framework to ensure full compliance with food safety and sanitation regulations, effectively preventing cross-contamination in food service environments. They oversee the implementation of strict hygiene and grooming controls, ensuring that standards align with industry-best practices to safeguard public health and maintain product integrity.

4. Principles

4.1. Personal Hygiene

To keep the workplace professional and comfortable for everyone, employees are expected to maintain high standards of personal hygiene, which includes daily bathing, using deodorant, and keeping hands and fingernails clean and well-manicured. Avoid strong scents like heavy perfumes or colognes to accommodate those with sensitivities. Additionally, ensure that hair and facial hair are kept clean, neatly trimmed, and styled in a way that doesn't interfere with your safety or job performance.
